Don Diebolt began working part-time with Diebolt Lumber when he was in high school. After graduation, he moved briefly to Wichita before returning to Allen County in 1978 to return to the company. In 1986, Diebolt broke away and opened Kitchens and More, a supplier of custom cabinetry and countertops. He remained there for the next 13 years until his father, Lawrence Diebolt, was ready for retirement. In 1999, Don bought Diebolt Lumber and relocated Kitchens and More to the sprawling Diebolt complex at 2661 Nebraska Rd.

Relationships, with both customers and suppliers, and aggressive marketing have kept Diebolt Lumber and Supply in business for more than half a century. And if recent trends are any indication, the future of Don Diebolt's lumber yard just southeast of LaHarpe looks brighter than ever.

Diebolt is able to offer high-quality materials at bargain prices through the company's affiliation with a consortium of more than 4,000 lumber yard owners from across the country. The companies can serve as a single purchasing agent when dealing with wholesale suppliers. "I'm sure that as a single business, there are suppliers who probably wouldn't talk to us if we were trying to buy a truckload of lumber," Diebolt said. "But when you're talking 4,000 businesses who each need a truckload, then they'll want our business."

Likewise, individual members can find their specific needs met as well. It's truly one for all, all for one, Diebolt said.

Diebolt Lumber can remain flexible to meet any need, large or small, including those hoping to work on small-scale projects or repairs.

Diebolt has expanded the area in which he wants to serve. "We really focused on trying to attract new contractors, those who need big-ticket purchases," Diebolt said "We want them to know that we're here to serve them."

Diebolt figures contractors from as far as 100 miles away will look for materials at Diebolt Lumber. "If you're gonna save $1,000 on a purchase by driving 100 miles, it's not a hard decision," he noted.

"We depend on repeat customers," Diebolt said. "They won't be repeat customers if we don't have the best quality materials." Diebolt won't necessarily focus on the cheapest supplies, but they will strive to find the best, Diebolt stressed. And if the best materials happen to be the most affordable, then it's a win-win situation.
